Program

Today, some 19 million people (roughly two-thirds of Texans) live in the Texas Triangle — defined as the 35 counties that make up the metropolitan areas of Houston, Dallas-Fort Worth, San Antonio and Austin. In their book, “The Texas Triangle: An Emerging Power in the Global Economy,” co-authors Henry Cisneros, David Hendricks, J.H. Cullum Clark and William Fulton examine how this mega-region will play a dominant role in determining the state’s economic future, demographic patterns and political priorities. This webinar expands on topics explored in the book such as the importance of the Texas Triangle, what makes it unique and its implications for Texas’ economic future.
